How To Use This Guide

Bring this guide each week. Read the Scriptures, take notes during teaching, answer the reflection questions honestly, and complete the weekly action step. Kingdom economics is not simply about money; it is about managing every resource God entrusts to us for His purpose.

Kingdom Economics At A Glance

- God is the Owner; we are His stewards.
- Seeds of faith, service, generosity, and obedience produce fruit.
- Increase requires wisdom, discipline, humility, and accountability.
- Kingdom resources should reflect God’s justice and bless people beyond us.

WEEK 1

The King Owns It All

Kingdom Economics

Read This Week: Psalm 24:1; Matthew 6:31–33; Luke 16:10–13; Haggai 2:8

Big Idea

Kingdom economics begins when we recognize God as Owner and ourselves as trusted stewards of everything He places in our hands.

My Notes From The Teaching

Kingdom Truths To Remember

- God is our Source; jobs, people, and opportunities are channels He may use.
- Seeking God's Kingdom first changes how we make decisions about life and resources.
- Faithfulness with little is preparation for greater responsibility.
- God's provision has a purpose beyond personal comfort: to honor Him and bless others.

Discuss And Reflect

1. What changes when I see my time, money, gifts, and influence as God's property?

2. Where have I depended more on a channel than on God as my Source?

3. What is one area of stewardship where God is calling me to become more faithful?

This Week I Will

List five resources God has entrusted to you. Pray over the list and ask Him how each one can serve His purpose.

My action step: What specific act of faith or stewardship will I take this week?

Speak This Declaration

God owns it all, and He is my Source. I will faithfully manage what He entrusts to me and seek His Kingdom first.

We declare that God is our Source. We are faithful stewards, wise sowers, disciplined managers, and generous servants. We will not be ruled by fear, lack, greed, or the world's system. We will use what God places in our hands to honor Him, bless people, and advance His Kingdom.

Closing Prayer

Lord, teach me to be a faithful steward. Remove fear, wastefulness, and self-reliance, and use every resource in my life for Your glory.

Lord, help us to recognize that everything belongs to You. Deliver us from fear, selfishness, wastefulness, and dependence on worldly systems. Teach us to be faithful stewards and to seek Your Kingdom first. Let what You place in our hands be used for Your purpose and Your glory. Amen

WEEK 2

What You Sow Determines What You Grow

Principle of Seed

Read This Week: Genesis 8:22; Galatians 6:7–10; 2 Corinthians 9:6–11; Mark 4:1–20

Big Idea

God established seedtime and harvest. Every seed we sow in faith and obedience carries potential for future fruit.

My Notes From The Teaching

Kingdom Truths To Remember

- Seed is more than money: we sow words, time, prayer, service, forgiveness, and generosity.
- A seed must leave our hand to enter our future.
- The condition of our heart affects whether the Word takes root and produces fruit.
- God calls us to sow faithfully without trying to control the timing of the harvest.

Discuss And Reflect

1. What kinds of seeds have I been sowing with my words and choices?

2. What good seed have I stopped sowing because I became discouraged?

3. What does “good ground” look like in my heart right now?

This Week I Will

Choose one intentional seed to sow this week: encouragement, service, forgiveness, prayer, time in the Word, or a financial gift.

My action step: What specific act of faith or stewardship will I take this week?

Speak This Declaration

I will sow in faith and not grow weary. God makes every obedient seed fruitful in His time.

We declare that God is our Source. We are faithful stewards, wise sowers, disciplined managers, and generous servants. We will not be ruled by fear, lack, greed, or the world's system. We will use what God places in our hands to honor Him, bless people, and advance His Kingdom.

Closing Prayer

Father, make my heart good ground. Help me sow in love and obedience, free from fear and impatience. I trust You with the harvest.

Father, make our hearts good ground. Help us to sow in faith, obedience, and love. Break the fear of lack and the weariness that makes us stop doing good. Teach us to trust Your timing and to believe that every seed planted in obedience has purpose. Amen.

WEEK 3

Increase Needs Instruction

Wisdom for Increase

Read This Week: Proverbs 3:5–10; Proverbs 4:7; Proverbs 21:5; Matthew 25:14–30; James 1:5

Big Idea

Increase is not only receiving more. It is gaining the wisdom, discipline, humility, and character to manage more.

My Notes From The Teaching

Kingdom Truths To Remember

- Wisdom is a Kingdom resource that helps us apply God's truth to everyday decisions.
- God measures faithfulness, not comparison with others.
- Prayerful planning and practical discipline are part of good stewardship.
- Increase must never replace the Blessor or become an idol.

Discuss And Reflect

1. Where do I need God's wisdom most right now?

2. What resource is already in my hand that I need to develop?

3. What practical habit would help me manage my time, finances, or gifts more wisely?

This Week I Will

Ask God for wisdom in one specific area, then take one practical step: make a budget, seek counsel, organize your schedule, reduce waste, or develop a gift.

My action step: What specific act of faith or stewardship will I take this week?

Speak This Declaration

God gives me wisdom to steward increase. I will be diligent, humble, accountable, and faithful with what is in my hand.

We declare that God is our Source. We are faithful stewards, wise sowers, disciplined managers, and generous servants. We will not be ruled by fear, lack, greed, or the world's system. We will use what God places in our hands to honor Him, bless people, and advance His Kingdom.

Closing Prayer

God, give me wisdom for every resource You entrust to me. Teach me to plan well, remain humble, and use increase to advance Your Kingdom.

God, give us wisdom for every resource You place in our hands. Teach us to plan with diligence, to seek counsel, to manage well, and to remain humble. Help us to multiply what You have entrusted to us—not for selfish gain, but so Your Kingdom can be seen through our lives. Amen.

WEEK 4

Kingdom Increase Must Reach Beyond Us

Justice and Generosity

Read This Week: Micah 6:8; Isaiah 58:6–10; Proverbs 19:17; Luke 4:18–19; Acts 2:42–47

Big Idea

Kingdom economics reflects God’s heart for justice, mercy, generosity, and practical care for people in need.

My Notes From The Teaching

Kingdom Truths To Remember

- Justice means doing what is right, treating people fairly, and refusing to ignore the vulnerable.
- Generosity is a lifestyle that includes money, time, resources, advocacy, and practical help.
- Giving freely declares that God, not fear, is our Source.
- The Church becomes a visible witness of the Kingdom when needs are noticed and met.

Discuss And Reflect

1. What does justice look like in my home, workplace, church, or community?

2. How can I practice generosity beyond financial giving?

3. Who is God putting on my heart to see, serve, or support?

This Week I Will

Complete one act of Kingdom generosity this week. Meet a practical need, check on someone, share a resource, support outreach, or help connect someone to assistance.

My action step: What specific act of faith or stewardship will I take this week?

Speak This Declaration

I will do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with God. What He gives me will reach beyond me to bless others.

We declare that God is our Source. We are faithful stewards, wise sowers, disciplined managers, and generous servants. We will not be ruled by fear, lack, greed, or the world's system. We will use what God places in our hands to honor Him, bless people, and advance His Kingdom.

Closing Prayer

Father, open my eyes to needs around me. Make me compassionate, courageous, and generous. Let my life display Your justice and mercy.

Father, give us hearts that look like Yours. Open our eyes to the needs around us. Deliver us from selfishness, pride, and indifference. Teach us to do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly before You. Let our generosity become a visible witness of Your Kingdom in our homes, church, and community. Amen.

My October Stewardship Reflection

1. What did God teach me this month about being a steward?

2. Which area of Kingdom economics do I need to keep developing?

3. What seed, wise decision, or act of generosity will I continue after this series?

Monthly Declaration

God is my Source. I am a faithful steward, a wise sower, and a generous servant. I will not be ruled by fear, lack, greed, or the world's system. I will use what God places in my hands to honor Him, bless people, and advance His Kingdom.
